1. ABOUT BIM

Established in 1984, Bharathidasan Institute of Management (BIM), Tiruchirappalli, an ISO 21001:2018 certified institution, is an independent School of Excellence of Bharathidasan University, run by an independent society. BIM offers a two-year residential MBA programme approved by AICTE with specializations in Marketing, Finance, Operations and Supply Chain Management, Human Resources Management, Digital Business, and Analytics. It also conducts the Tamil Nadu Chief Minister's Fellowship Programme and various Management Development/Faculty Development Programs. More than 4500 BIM Alumni spread around the globe are significantly contributing to corporates, academics, and society today. Former Union Minister Bharat Ratna, the Late Shri C Subramaniam, was instrumental in setting up this B School. He was motivated by starting a School of Excellence in Management that would be organically linked with an industrial complex. He believed that just as a medical school needed to be attached to a hospital to be effective as a teaching institution, a Management School had to be linked with industry. Accordingly, the Institute was set up in collaboration with BHEL within its sprawling Tiruchirappalli campus. In addition to its graduate programme, BIM has a strong research profile and established multiple centers of excellence, including the Operations Excellence Centre, Financial Trading and Analytics Centre (FINTRAC), Real-Time Contextual Marketing Lab, and Centre for Sustainable Development to advance contemporary management practices (www.bim.edu).

Vision and Mission

Vision

To be an innovative, socially responsive, and inclusive institute of excellence in management education.

Mission

- Nurture socially responsible and competent leaders.
- Foster innovative practices in curriculum, pedagogy, and industry engagement for holistic student development.
- Provide access to quality management education for all sections of society.
- Engage in meaningful research and share knowledge with the community and industry.

2. MBA PROGRAMME

The MBA programme at Bharathidasan Institute of Management (BIM), with its unique programme architecture, nurtures divergent and holistic thinking, inspires fresh ideas, and prepares students ready to be challenged at every moment. It aims to transform students into competent managers and leaders with creativity, curiosity, and integrity. Our curriculum helps students acquire and develop the functional skills to make the right decisions, learn the tools to gather and analyze data and develop the leadership ability to formulate, exhibit, and execute a vision for change within and through others. Through active involvement in various clubs and committees, from multiple meetings to student-run management symposia to volunteering for the broader community welfare, this programme offers a multitude of avenues to grow. Forums such as FinClub, BIM Discussions, and area-specific clubs help grasp the impact of developments in the socio-economic, political, and technological arenas the manager must handle. Students manage public relations and take responsibility for media relations, social media, and competition management, and it helps them learn to navigate through strategic situations easily.

The BIM-MBA programme does not limit itself to domain-specific knowledge or skill set required to perform well as a manager. Also, it extends into the realms of learning, such as goal-oriented behavior and a value system that represents the essence of deep-rooted and time-tested Indian wisdom. Practice-school courses such as Universal Human Values (UHV), Personal Growth Lab (PGL), Social Immersion Programme (SIP), Corporate Immersion Programme (CIP), Effective Execution (EE), and Personality Enhancement through Sports (PETS) help build character and strength to successfully face adverse and uncertain situations in life, develop team spirit and build a strong personality. BIM-MBA programme matches the global standards, continuously benchmarking with top business schools worldwide, and collaborates with the industry to update its curriculum from time to time towards developing new-age Pi (π)-shaped professionals.

2.1 Programme Educational Objectives (PEOs)

PEO-1: Facilitate graduates to become professionally competent managers and leaders.

PEO-2: Orient graduates to become socially responsible citizens.

PEO-3: Enable intent for continuous learning, professional development, and well-being.

2.2 Programme Outcomes (POs)

3. PROGRAMME ARCHITECTURE

Through a well-crafted programme architecture, BIM-MBA nurtures Pi (π) shaped professionals who are ready for the business of tomorrow. The business of today is marked by Volatility, Uncertainty, Complexity, and Ambiguity (VUCA). Disruptions like new technologies, new business rules, a new set of consumers like centennials, and unforeseen events such as the recent pandemic became the next new normal for the future of work.

At BIM, we have designed a unique world-class program architecture countering VUCA by making BIMite a π -shaped professional. A π is an irrational number and perhaps holds the key to combating today's irrational world. This approach provides the necessary breadth in the core curriculum represented in the horizontal bar, supported by the vertical bars, which represent capability-building courses in the specialization areas and the new-age courses that enhance the competencies in each area of specialization to resolve the contemporary challenges. The horizontal bar in Pi denotes the core and elective courses to provide a spread of subject knowledge across core and elective subjects to make them strong generalists. The first vertical bar represents the new technology applications across five areas of specialization, such as MarTech, Text Mining and Consumer Sentiment Analysis, and Marketing Analytics in Marketing; Fintech, Blockchain, Cryptocurrency, and Financial Derivatives, Supply Chain Analytics, and Operations 4.0 in Operations, HR Analytics and Digital HR in Human Resources, and AI/ML and other tools in Digital Business & Analytics. This domain-specific technology focus equips our students to be specialists in applying new technology in a specific specialization for meaningful business insights. All BIM students are encouraged and facilitated to learn Python, R, KNIME, SPSS, AMOS, NVivo, and other tool-based applications. The second vertical bar denotes courses that help our students imbibe human values and build character, personality, and confidence to take on the uncertain world with a strong belief in themselves and sensitivity to SDG/ESG priorities. Our practice courses, such as participation in club activities, personality building through sports, the Outbound Leadership Programme, the Personal Growth Lab, and courses like Universal Human Values, aim to achieve this.

BIM has created Centers of Excellence like the Financial Trading and Analytics Centre (FINTRAC equipped with Bloomberg Terminal and NSE Smart Trading Simulator), Real-Time Contextual Marketing Lab (RTCLM equipped with Salesforce Social Studio and a host of other proprietary and open-source tools), Centre for Operations Excellence (with Fresh Connection simulation), Centre for Design Thinking, Innovation, and Entrepreneurship (Srishti), and Centre for Sustainable Development. Students are doing certifications, Bloomberg Market Concepts (BMC), Bloomberg ESG, Certified Market Technician, Salesforce Studio, and Supply Chain 4.0 simulations through these centers of excellence. Students with faculty mentors are encouraged to undertake interdisciplinary research to build proof-of-concepts and create patents. Students are currently working on text mining and audience sentiment analysis, algorithmic trading, and predicting valuation from social sentiments. Students develop a good insight into the subject by blending theory with practice. The CoEs at BIM ensure world-class research, scholastic, and consulting experience in the most contemporary areas. The MBA Course Curriculum 2024-25 portrays the vision of BIM.

3.1 Credit Structure

A minimum of 120 credits is required to qualify for the MBA programme. However, under the flexible system, a student can earn up to 126 credits. In such a case, a student can additionally register for three 2-credit or two 3-credit courses above the stipulated 120 credits.

Total	120

3.2 Research Incubation

This course provides an opportunity for the student to develop the ability to identify, analyze, research, and propose a solution to a real problem of significance in business or administration. It can be a project involving contact with practice (for example, in a company), a library-based project using secondary data, or a teaching case study. The standard expected is that the final output will show knowledge and understanding of the area that is being researched. The course covers the necessary skills and requirements for a literature review, qualitative and quantitative methods, a research proposal, and the pragmatics of ethics and project management. Critical learning strategies include peer review, skill development workshops, and practice exercises. This course carries three credits.

3.3 Practice School

BIM aims to promote the overall development of students. Therefore, students are encouraged to go through experiential learning courses such as Personal Growth Lab, Outbound Leadership Programme, Social Immersion Programme, and other courses listed below. A few courses listed under Practice School are compulsory but may not carry credits, as these experiential courses are subjective and designed to foster self-development. These courses are marked in asterisk (*).

However, satisfactorily completing these courses is mandatory. As mentioned in paragraphs 3.3.1. to 3.3.4, the remaining Practice School courses have credits and an appropriate evaluation for grade calculations.

3.3.1. Effective Execution (EE)

BIM is known for student-driven learning events and programs. The concepts and competencies acquired from classroom learning are experimented with and simulated by participating in various functional committees and area-specific interest clubs. They plan, organize, lead, and manage events in their areas of strength, thus sharpening their managerial execution skills. A Faculty Coordinator facilitates the clubs and committees. This programme carries one credit.

3.3.2. Personality Enhancement through Sports (PES)

BIM focuses on developing integrated personality, and sports are inevitable for creating a good personality across dimensions: physical, mental, social, emotional, and values. BIM has well-equipped facilities for sports and games, and all students are expected to be part of at least one of the sports activities. This programme carries one credit.

3.3.3. Social Immersion Programme (SIP)

The Social Immersion Programme (SIP) is BIM's unique social intervention initiative, aligning with its sustainability goals and recognizing the corporate, social, and government efforts and investment in solving issues related to climate change, gender justice, and poverty alleviation. This involves an immersion program for a week in nearby villages/rural areas. This course also aims at imparting values of social responsibility and building sustainable behavior to future managers & leaders. This programme carries two credits.

3.3.4. Corporate Immersion Programme (CIP)

The Corporate Immersion Programme (CIP) is pivotal in developing students for a challenging business career. This practical orientation requires extensive learning from the organization and consequent reporting for evaluation. Students take up real-time projects and assignments with the organizations. An Industry Guide and a Faculty Mentor facilitate these projects and tasks. Students are required to report continuously for formative assessment. Their final report and presentation form a part of the summative assessment. This programme carries three credits.

3.3.5. Personal Growth Lab (PGL)*

Self-awareness forms the fulcrum of a confident and booming personality. It is the foundation for career success and interpersonal effectiveness. Personal growth lab is a 5-day experiential workshop where the students mirror themselves through exercises and psychometric tests. This metamorphoses into an excellent personal growth plan, enabling the students' strength, drive, and emotions. This is a compulsory non-credit course.

3.3.6 Outbound Leadership Programme (OBL)*

The Outbound Leadership Programme is an experiential learning programme. It is an activity-based behavioral intervention programme where students are involved in outdoor activities. Students experience challenges and work together to break their inhibitions and develop leadership competence. Through an outbound leadership programme, students acquire competence in solving problems, conflict resolution, and situational management, thus gaining end-to-end leadership experience. This is a compulsory non-credit course.

3.3.7 Social and Business Etiquettes*

BIM conducts courses and other learning avenues that give students an edge in placement. After completing their academic programme, it has an intensive workshop on managerial skills and etiquette necessary to integrate into corporate life. This intense training fosters and develops the students for the future professional world. This is a compulsory non-credit course.

b. Apart from core courses, a student should register within a range of 14-16 credits for elective courses in each trimester. Under a flexible system, a student should earn a minimum of 42 credits and a maximum of 48 credits in their three trimesters of PGP-II.

c. The maximum number of students for each elective course is not limited. However, if necessary, the faculty concerned may define qualifying criteria or prerequisites in consultation with the concerned area chairperson and approve them by the PGP chairperson and the Director for admitting students into the elective course.

d. If the number of registrations for a particular elective course is below ten, the students will be informed to opt for alternate elective options. However, on a case-to-case basis, an elective course with less than ten registrations will be offered in consultation with the Area Chairperson, PGP Chairperson, and the Director.

f. A student should earn a minimum of 18 credits and 12 credits from the elective courses in an area to claim major specialization and minor specialization, respectively, in that specific area during PGP – II. In the case of cross-listed courses, such courses can be counted towards either major or minor only.

5. COURSE ADMINISTRATION POLICY

5.1 Credit Definition

One credit equals ten sessions (70 minutes each) of classroom interactions and 20 hours of directed learning for students, including pre-readings, assisted learning materials, post-session activities, and video tutorials.

5.2 Class Schedule

Course faculty will provide comprehensive session plans for each course before the commencement of the sessions. Students are expected to be available for classes on all days of the week. Classes will generally be scheduled during the forenoon and afternoon hours on working days. However, should a Course Faculty require it, classes may be scheduled until late evenings or on weekends. Though the schedule of classes for each week is communicated in advance, the PGP Chairperson may, in consultation with the respective Course Faculty, revise the plan at short notice as and when necessary. Generally, the maximum number of sessions (1 session equals 70 minutes) per course per day shall be limited to 2 per day with a ceiling of 6 sessions per calendar week.

5.3 Course Feedback

Our constant endeavour is to improve the learner experience; for this, correct and frank feedback from students helps us improve our processes. Students are mandated to share the course feedback at the end of each term. Students will not receive the hall ticket to write the examination without sharing the course feedback. The director's office manages this feedback process, and the feedback is published only after the results are published. The feedback mechanism remains anonymous, and the Director's office ensures complete confidentiality.

Exit Survey: While the above is course-specific, this exit survey intends to focus on the student's overall learning and campus living experience. It will be directly administered by the Director's office with complete anonymity and confidentiality.

In addition, students can freely write to askdirector@bim.edu in case of any query/concern/issues directly to the Director, and the names of the students raising concerns will be kept strictly confidential.

Also, every student will be allotted a faculty mentor, and the overall faculty in charge of the mentorship will support them in their academic endeavours and campus life. An external student counsellor will take care of the students' mental welfare. A robust student buddy system is in place to offer peer support.

5.4 Student Course Coordinators

For every course (in the case of the core course, for every section), two student course coordinators will be allotted (based on their academic performance) by the PGP. They are expected to assist the faculty in the class logistics (including coordination between the PGP office and the faculty concerned in organizing sessions, classroom materials, and any group work). Such course coordinators may be changed in the case of unsatisfactory performance. However, they shall not be allowed to be involved in any tasks related to grading and evaluation or access confidential student/official records.

6. EVALUATION AND GRADING

BIM follows a continual evaluation process that includes formative and summative assessments. The respective course faculty will announce the evaluation scheme at the beginning of each course.

6.1 Continuous Internal Assessment (CIA)

6.1.1 The Continuous Internal Assessment (CIA) component or the formative assessment is evaluated for 60%, which includes various assessment components such as Quizzes, Written Tests and Exams, Case Discussions, Project Works, Assignments, Presentations, Fieldwork, Micro Studies, Role Plays, Simulations, Group Exercises, and other learning activities.

6.1.2 Mid-Term Examination is a mandatory component. In a competency-based course, the faculty may conduct alternative method(s) of assessment. In case a student is unable to attend a mid-term examination or these assessments due to unavoidable reasons (health or family emergency or official duty), he/she can request the Controller of Examinations to conduct a mid-term re-examination, subject to the condition that the student has applied for leave in the prescribed format and got it approved by the PGP Chairperson and the Controller of Examinations (COE) before respective examinations. After obtaining the approval, the student must pay a fee of Rs. 750 per course for the mid-term re-examination.

6.1.3 The course faculty will publish the CIA scores to the concerned students. After verification, modification (if any), and finalization of the CIA scores, the faculty will share the final CIA scores with the Examinations Department. If a student fails to clear the CIA, they will be required to appear for a supplementary CIA exam of two hours (for 50 marks) in the concerned subject. Till such clearance of CIA and the certification by the concerned faculty, the student's result will be withheld for the specific course(s).

6.2 End-Term Examination

6.2.1 The End-Term Examination or summative assessment carries a weightage of 40%. CIA and End-Term Examination scores are considered for Grade Point Average (GPA) calculation. The End-Term examination is conducted for three hours (for 100 marks) to test the students on concepts, applications, analytical skills, problem-solving, case analysis, and decision-making. Students must follow the examination guidelines published by the Examinations Department when appearing for the examinations.

6.2.2 A minimum of 80% attendance in all the courses is required to be eligible to appear for the end-term examination in the respective trimesters. In case of any failure to satisfy the minimum attendance, the student will not be allowed to appear for the end-term examination for the respective course(s). They must appear for the subsequent supplementary examinations.

6.3 Re-evaluation and Supplementary Examination

6.3.1 Re-evaluation guidelines

6.3.1 Before applying for re-evaluation of any answer script, students will be permitted to review their answer script(s) through a written request to the CoE. Students are strongly advised to apply for re-evaluation only when they think they performed satisfactorily and there is merit in applying.

6.3.2 After due diligence, students who have failed in any subject may apply for re-evaluation in the prescribed form to the Controller of Examinations along with a fee of Rs.500 per answer script. Request for re-evaluation must be made within three working days from the declaration of results, failing which the results will be considered final.

6.3.3 Re-evaluation/verification of answer script(s) is not allowed, in general, for the student who passed a course. However, if a student strongly feels he deserves better marks than his score, he can appeal to the COE in writing. If satisfied with the appeal, the COE will refer the case to the academic committee (comprising the COE, PGP Chairperson, and the Area Chair) and forward the answer script(s) for scrutiny. If there is merit in the student's concern, the answer script(s) will be sent for re-evaluation. In such case(s), the re-evaluation fee is Rs.3000 per script. This fee (after deducting Rs.500 towards administrative charges) will be refunded if the student gets at least five marks or more than the first evaluation.

6.3.4 In the instance related to a course where 50% (or more) of the students who appeared for the examination failed to pass the end-term examination (with requisite 50% marks) and associated supplementary examinations and CIA supplementary examinations, the answer papers of all the candidates will automatically go through a re-evaluation process. In consultation with the Director, the COE will send such papers for re-evaluation to an external or internal examiner. The students will not be required to pay fees for such a re-evaluation process. In such cases, the students necessitated taking the supplementary examinations (post the re-evaluation process) must attend at least ten hours of tutorials by the concerned faculty with 100% attendance on these tutorial sessions. They shall also pay applicable supplementary exam fees.

6.3.5 Supplementary Examination

- a. Students awarded an "F" grade in a course must apply for supplementary exams using the prescribed form within three working days of the declaration of results to the Controller of Examinations for taking a supplementary examination. Such applications should be made along with a payment of a supplementary examination fee of Rs.750/- per examination.
- b. Supplementary examinations are usually conducted along with the end-term examinations of the following trimesters. However, the dates of these supplementary examinations will be at the discretion of the COE.
- c. Students can appear for a maximum of two supplementary examinations in a subject. He/she should successfully pass the subject within three attempts (one Regular and two Supplementary examinations), failing which, the rule prescribed in 6.3.5.e will apply.
- d. In case of failure in a subject and subsequent clearance by appearing in the supplementary examination, the marks scored in the additional examination will be related to the distribution of marks in the regular assessment. Downgrading to the next grade will give an appropriate grading for the supplementary examination marks. For example, suppose a student clears the supplementary exam and obtains a relative position that would have been graded as a 'C' in the concerned regular examination. In that case, they will be awarded a 'D.' However, if a student gets an "E" grade in the supplementary examination, the exact grade will be maintained by awarding the lowest mark in an "E" grade. This downgrading system applies to all students who appear for the supplementary examination.

e. A student who fails to clear a course after two supplementary examinations shall re-register for that course. Such students should re-register and complete the course (along with the ensuing batch) within two years from the end of the programme of their cohort.

f. Students' academic performance will be reviewed by the sub-committee consisting of the PGP Chairperson and Controller of Examinations every trimester after the declaration of results. Based on the subcommittee's recommendations, the Director may withdraw the student from the programme whose performance and conduct is not satisfactory.

6.4 Comprehensive Viva-Voce Examination

6.4.1 The first-year programme at BIM provides inputs that all managers require, irrespective of their specialization or functional area. The Comprehensive Viva Voce is designed to check the core of management knowledge and conceptual clarity.

6.4.2 Comprehensive Viva-Voce is one of the evaluation mechanisms used to assess students' conceptual understanding and ability to present concepts cogently. It is designed to test various concepts studied in several courses in that particular trimester of PGP-I, integrate them, and apply them to practical problems and situations.

6.4.3 The comprehensive viva voce will be conducted at the end of each trimester of PGP-I. The viva voce will be conducted by panels drawn from faculty members and experts from the industry whenever required. This examination carries one credit spread evenly across all three trimesters of PGP-I. The selection of the faculty panel for any viva/ examination will be strictly based on a random draw to eliminate any possibility of bias.

6.4.4 The registration to PGP-II is conditional upon the clearance of comprehensive viva voce along with other courses in PGP-I.

6.5 Grading System

6.5.1 Grades are assigned to students based on the assessment of their overall performance in each course. The Institute follows a relative grading system for evaluating students' academic performance. The minimum passing score is 50% and the grade point is five. As the grading system follows forced distribution, the relationship between the percentage of marks and the grade point average will vary based on the distribution of marks in various courses and, thus, will not be linear.

6.5.2 The grades and grade points will be assigned based on the following method of grading distribution:

STUDENTS FALLING BETWEEN	GRADE	GRADE POINTS
96% and 100% (top 5 percentile)	O	10
76% and 95%	A	9
51% and 75%	B	8
26% and 50%	C	7
6% and 25%	D	6
Below 6 % (bottom 5 percentile)	E	5

6.5.3 The CGPA (Cumulative Grade Point Average) or OGPA (Overall Grade Point Average) is calculated as below:

$$CGPA = \frac{\sum_{i=1}^N (Grade\ Points \times Credit\ Points)}{\sum_{i=1}^N Credits}$$

where N = number of courses/subjects.

6.5.4 Students are required to obtain a minimum of 50% marks in each of the formative and summative components of the assessment. Students who fail to attain these minimum scores will receive an 'F' grade.

6.5.5 An overall ranking based on the total grade points will be arrived at the end of every trimester and upon completion of the MBA programme.

6.5.6 Students will be issued with trimester-wise grade sheets. In addition, on completion of the programme and on request, students will be provided with a consolidated grade sheet on payment of a fee of Rs.500.

6.6 Award of Degree

The institute will recommend to Bharathidasan University that it award the degree of Master of Business Administration (MBA) to qualifying students. The fee for issuance of the MBA Degree Certificate, eligibility criteria, award of degrees, and graduation event will be as prescribed by the University. Please note that no specialization will be mentioned in the degree certificate.

7. ATTENDANCE

7.1 Attendance Policy

7.1.1 The PGP office will publish attendance details via email at regular intervals. If there are any discrepancies, it is the responsibility of the student(s) concerned to bring them to the notice of the PGP office within two working days in writing/email.

7.1.2 The minimum attendance required for each course is 80%. Hence, a student's absence for any reason, including medical grounds, family situations, emergencies, etc., should not result in more than 20% of the total sessions in each course. The attendance percentage will be calculated based on the actual number of sessions held for the respective courses.

7.1.3. The PGP may give relaxation on medical grounds (case-by-case basis) (to be duly approved by the PGP Chairperson). For this purpose, the major ailment is defined as if (a) the ailment requires prolonged hospitalization or bed rest or isolation or it is a psychiatric illness (e.g., depression, schizophrenia), and (b) the program office is informed in writing about the ailment within two days of hospitalization or diagnosis, and (c) the ailment is verifiable by the Institute's doctor or from the hospital certifying that the student is not fit to study or attending classes. Anyone found to have fudged documents in this regard will be subject to strict disciplinary action, including expulsion from the Programme.

7.1.4. However, if the period of major ailment exceeds 50% of sessions in a term, the student has to temporarily withdraw from the course on medical grounds and repeat the course in the subsequent academic year. This policy applies to the case of an attendance shortage (less than 50%) for any reason.

7.1.5 In the case of failure to appear for end-term examinations (for reasons excluding less than 50% attendance), the student shall appear for subsequent supplementary examinations by paying the applicable supplementary examination fees. Also, the existing policy of downgrading for supplementary examinations shall apply.

7.1.6 Students are expected to be in the class well before the commencement of each session. Attendance will be taken either at the beginning or end of every session. Late coming to a class will be marked as absent, and students cannot claim attendance for such late coming.

7.1.7 Course faculty are free to adopt reasonable measures to regulate attendance and penalize absence to ensure smooth and undisturbed classroom learning, including marking absences and disciplinary action by the PGP Chairperson.

7.1.8 A student who has not been permitted to appear for the End-Term Examination due to a shortfall in attendance will be treated on par with the student who has obtained an 'F' grade in that course. Such a student must approach the concerned faculty member for coursework. Considering the shortfall in attendance, the faculty concerned may, at his/her discretion, decide upon the number of hours of coursework. On completion of the coursework, the faculty will communicate with the PGP Office and Examination Department for further courses of action.

7.1.9 Approval for leave of absence on official duty: Students are encouraged to participate in events organized in reputed institutions and undertake inter-collegiate events and placements. However, these activities cannot be at the cost of the core academic programme. Any requests for leave of absence (less than 20% of sessions) from class for the student(s) on duty should be submitted in writing. This request must be recommended by the faculty in charge of the activity/ course and approved by the PGP Chairperson before proceeding on duty. The onus of getting prior approval lies entirely with the student(s) concerned.

8. ACADEMIC DISCIPLINE

8.1 General Rules

8.1.1 The Institute attaches utmost importance to integrity and honesty in the students' academic works and activities.

8.1.2 Students shall ensure the confidentiality of the proprietary course materials (e.g., case studies) provided and adhere to the copyright regulations.

8.1.3 Any plagiarism or copying in exams or assignments and other types of misdeeds in academic work will be viewed as a breach of discipline. Such a violation will attract strict punishment, including an F grade in a particular course.

8.1.4 Mobile phones or any other electronic device in the classroom is strictly forbidden unless recommended by the faculty. Any violation of this rule will attract punitive action, including marked absence for attendance. Repetitive behaviour may invite further disciplinary action, including temporary suspension from the classes.

8.2 Group and Individual Assessments and Examinations

8.2.1 The students are encouraged to interact and learn in groups to accomplish academic outcomes but beyond class hours unless the faculty administers an in-class group discussion.

8.2.2 All students are expected to participate and contribute equally to submitting group assignments or any relevant coursework. The Course Faculty is free to award the students in proportion to their contribution to the group assignment or any relevant coursework. In the case of individual assignments or all pertinent coursework, a student is expected to work independently.

8.2.3 All assignments must be submitted to the concerned Course Faculty or PGP office as may be required before the prescribed date and time.

8.2.5 Regulation during the Examinations
